Graf Zeppelin Sets New Record In Crossing Atlantic

GIANT AIRCRAFT SPANS OCEAN IN 55-HOUR PERIOD

Averages 80 Miles An Hour For Voyage To Germany

SPEED REACHED 100-MILE MARK

Passengers Delighted At Performance Of Big Dirigible

At Lintzshafen, Germany, Aug. 10.—Germany's aerial greyhound, the Graf Zeppelin, landed here at 11 o'clock this afternoon (7 a. m. Salem time), completing safely the first leg of her 21,700-mile round-the-world voyage.

Speeding over the Atlantic with favorable winds behind her, the Graf traveled the 4,400 miles from Lakehurst, N. J., in 55 hours and 20 minutes. Her average speed was approximately 80 miles an hour although her speed at one time rose to 105 land miles an hour.

When the ship sailed into view through the mist at 12-40 o'clock, she was escorted by a Dornier seaplane, which had risen from Lake Constance earlier in the morning to greet her. The Dornier circled the Graf gracefully dipping her wings in salutation and homages.

After her first appearance the Graf disappeared in the clouds but soon returned to view.

The cheering crowd about the landing field, held back by a force of soldiers and police, could see the passengers waving from the windows of the great forward cabin.

Lands at 1 O'clock

The Zeppelin soared slowly to her hangar through a slight drizzle of rain. Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander, pointed her nose sharply. The landing ropes were dropped just before 1 o'clock and the trained land crew grasped them and pulled with a will. It was 1 o'clock in strict accordance with Dr. Eckener's schedule, when the Graf touched her home ground.

The crowd went wild with enthusiasm as the ship came to a dead halt before her hangar.

Officials of the Zeppelin works were jubilant.

The 22 passengers were thrilled with elation.

"I foresee the time when we will be making week end trips across the Atlantic just to have Sunday dinner in Berlin or Paris," said Sir Hubert Wilkins, famous Arctic and Antarctic explorer, who was a passenger.

The landing of the dirigible was remarkable maneuver. Dr. Eckener, the commander, again demonstrated that he is the world's foremost air sailor.

Dr. Eckener reversed the ship's motors and hovered stationary over the field. Then he made a "straight down" landing. The crew, grasping the landing ropes, slowly turned the ship and fastened it to the carboys outside the hangar. Then as the crowd cheered and yelled "Hoch Zeppelin" the Graf was pushed into her hangar just at 1:20 o'clock, 20 minutes after she had touched ground.

"This trip was an amazing performance," declared Col. Lindbergh's record flight from New York to Paris, "declared Lady Hay, the only woman passenger, after she had left the cabin. "There was no trouble at all on any part of the flight. We enjoyed every minute of it immensely."

This same sentiment was echoed by another passenger, Nelson Morris, of Chicago.

"It was certainly a flight of historic significance," Morris told International News Service. "It has given the best proof that the Zeppelin is the best means of trans-Atlantic transportation."

East Palestine Firm Sued For Gas Loss

Lisbon, Aug. 10.—Declaring that tanks were faulty in construction, that they collapsed and 43,684 gallons were lost and could not be salvaged as a result of the defects in the tanks, the Fidelity Petroleum Company of Perth Amboy, N. J., has filed common pleas court against East Palestine Mfg. Co., of East Palestine, for $85,500 damages, and costs.

The petition relates that the Fidelity company purchased two 23,400 gallon tanks from the East Palestine company at a contract price of $352 each. The tanks were used for a few months, and the petition shows that the joints expanded and the tanks collapsed, and caused the company to lose all the "gas" and then spend $1,000 for special equipment, the loss of the "gas" being placed at $7,500.

WOMAN KILLED WHEN AIRPLANE SPINS TO EARTH

Husband Was Pilot Of ill-fated Craft; Was Borrowed

Orville, O., Aug. 10.—An attempted "climbing turn" was today blamed for the airplane crash at Richmond field in which Mrs. F. H. Hammond, 23, of Barberton, was killed and her husband seriously injured. Officials at the airport said they believed the motor of the biplane piloted by Hammond, stalled under the strain of the turn and as a result nose-dived to earth. The plane was at an elevation of only 350 feet when the turn was attempted.

Hammond was in a serious condition at Wooster hospital today. He received a broken leg, a broken jawbone and internal injuries in the crash. His wife's body was badly mangled.

Hammond had had only 15 hours of flying and holds only a limited commercial license, authorities here said. The plane in which he was flying was licensed as an "experimental plane." It was said to have been borrowed by Hammond from an Akron man.

ATTRACTIONS TO BE MORE NUMEROUS

Horse Racing Events To Form Attraction, As Usual

Four or five Columbiana county granges will contest for prizes at the 80th annual fair of the Columbiana County Horticultural Society at Lisbon Sept. 17, 18, 19, it was made known today by H. E. Marsden, Association secretary. Last year only one grange entered an exhibit.

A premium of $25 has been set up by the fair board for the best display of farm products, the first prize being $100, the second $75 and the third $50. All granges making a creditable exhibit and not being awarded a glass premium will be paid $35.

The exhibit must be composed of farm products or products manufactured by a member of the Grange competing.

The fair board has designated the central part of the new exposition hall for all grange exhibits. The farm exhibit will also be in this hall.

Application for concession space at the fair is being received daily by Secretary Marsden. A number of contracts have already been signed. There will be more amusement and riding devices on the grounds this season than has been the usual custom, and additional parking space has been designated for automobiles.

Frank Dickey, of East Liverpool, who is in charge of the speed program will go into the field next week to complete the entry list. A number of horsemen have advised the fair board of their intent to enter their horses at Lisbon again this season, and entries in all trotting and pacing events will close at 10 o'clock Sept. 13.

Columbus, Aug. 10.—Selection of an architect to draw up plans for the new $6,000,000 state office building, funds for which were appropriated at the recent session of the legislature, marked the meeting of the building commission here this afternoon.

Harry Hake, Cincinnati, was appointed as the architect. He is to be allowed 6 per cent of the total cost of the building, about $360,000 for drawing up the plans, hiring the engineers and supervising the construction.

Alfred Hahn, Toledo and Frank Ball, Cleveland, were chosen as consulting architects. Each will receive about $30,000.

They Gain Weight At Columbiana Health Camp

ALL of the 32 children at Camp Gainmore have gained in weight and the gain record is held by Marie Nelson of Leetonia, whose weight has increased eight and one-half pounds since she entered the camp a few weeks ago.

The camp is sponsored by the Columbiana County Health league, aided by Kiwanis clubs, and is located on a county farm tract adjoining the Columbiana County Home.

Children at the camp are learning to eat the proper foods, that is, in the way of vegetables, such as carrots, beets, peas and beans delivered from a farm near by every morning. Fresh milk is in abundant supply both morning and night.

The camp is divided into two groups, one known as the Teddy Bears, and the other the Reindeers. Under these names, these groups hold tournaments of baseball, horseshoes and checkers.

SNOOK LETTERS WILL BE READ BY TRIAL JURY

Parents of Theora Hix Present Pathetic Picture

Courtroom, Columbus, Aug. 10.—The letters Dr. James Howard Snook penned to Theora Hix, pretty young co-ed whom he hammered to death, will be available to the jury for their consideration when they retire to deliberate the fate of the 49-year-old former college professor.

So erratic are these love missives that the defense believes they will support their contention that Snook is "insane." The fact Snook signed "Mabel" to his communications to Theora is just one more factor that may bewilder the jury in trying to determine what was the mental status of Snook when he was romancing with his paramour.

Snook's attorneys went so far as to attempt to have the jury consider the letters solely in support of the insanity plea. The state agreed to let the jury consider the letters "for what they are worth."

Dr. Snook can see the little packets of love letters lying there on a table, amid other exhibits, such as the hammer and the slain girl's garments—as he sits amid his lawyers and watches his trial draw slowly to a close.

He has completed his testimony in his own behalf which kept him on the witness stand for 17 hours. During that time he proved himself to be the strange, unfathomable character he has been since the day of his arrest—an interesting study in psychology. One of the hardest things for him to do even after he had related to the jury how he had beaten the girl to death with a hammer on a lonely rifle range outside the city limits on the night of the murder.

HAGUE MEETING NEAR BREAK-UP

Diplomats Extending All Efforts To Prevent Differences

The Hague, Aug. 10.—Every possible effort was made today to save the reparations conference here from ending in a disastrous break-up.

Both the members of the British delegation, who insist that the Young plan should be altered to allow Great Britain a greater share in German reparations, and representatives of other nations who wish the terms of the plan to remain unaltered, indicated they would leave no stone unturned to prevent such a happening.

As the situation stands now, the conference is deadlocked, whether the 12 nations represented will continue in their efforts to settle the reparations problem or will disband will be decided on Wednesday, when a vote is expected in the finance committee on the resolution of Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the exchequer, providing for the creation of a sub-committee to study the possibility of altering the reparations settlement to meet the British demands.

The British delegation today made clear that the chancellor would not withdraw from the conference before the last measure of conciliation had been explored.

The finance committee met at 10 a. m. today to discuss the problems on hand. It was reported that some progress was made toward meeting the demands of Snowden, at least partially.

TAXES BASIS OF POST PLATFORM

Former Mayor Aspiring For Position Tells Of Ideas

The battle for the mayoralty nomination in Salem took form from a new angle today, with the platform announcement of John W. Post, Republican candidate for the post.

Post, who held the office for two terms, concentrated his campaign for the position on the city's taxation situation, issuing the statement that he will see "that every taxpayer gets 100 cents of value out of every dollar expended in taxes" if elected.

"There is more to the office of mayor than simply being a police magistrate," Post states. "It is true, that is one of the important duties, but not the most important."

"The city of Salem," he adds, "spends hundreds of thousands of dollars contributed by the citizens by taxation, and the tendency is to spend all that can be procured, so that our taxes are on the increase. In 1924 an appraisal of the property in the city was made which increased the value of taxable property about 33 1-3 per cent. I am informed that a reappraisal will be made next year. If this is done and again increases the valuation of Salem property, I am in favor—and will work toward—using any increase of revenue toward a reduction of our bonded indebtedness. Our factories are now paying a very large percentage of our taxes, and about all they can bear, and anything that can be done to reduce this burden is of benefit to the whole city and every working man in it."

"I am in favor of the taxpayers getting one hundred cents of value out of every dollar they pay, and I promise to carefully scrutinize every contract and every piece of work done to see that they do. This I did my four years as mayor and I will do it again."

"While I was mayor I believed that every citizen was entitled to courteous treatment when he visited my office. If his complaint was justified the condition complained of was corrected; if not a reason was given which explained why no action could be taken. This policy will be continued by me if elected," he continued.

"While acting as mayor for four years," he said, "my record for arrest, trial, conviction and collection of fines surpassed that of any previous administrations, and I was told by Gov. Donahey that they compared favorably with any city the size of Salem and was better than most."

"If chosen to act as mayor," he closed, "I promise the citizens of Salem an efficient, economical, clean cut administration."

Beauties Of Salem Many When Viewed From Plane

Tree-Lined Streets, Recreational Parks, Schools, Industries Impress Observer In Air Over City; Former Salem Boy Pilot

Residents of Salem, who have lived in the city for many years and who have seen practically all of it, cannot realize the true beauty of the city until it is seen from the air.

Well laid out streets lined with shade trees, long arms of improved highways leading towards the center of the city, the snake-like tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad, a well balanced industrial area, a recreation park and public works all come into view as an observer hovers above the city in an airplane.

Then, too, you can tell just what is going on in and about the city. White-clad golfers are trekking across the blanket-like green course of the Salem golf club, a baseball game is in progress at Centennial park, a passenger train is rushing into the city, a traffic jam appears on the Damascus road and other bits of modern life are visible with but a turn of the head.

One of the greatest impressions from above Salem is the great number of trees in well defined rows along the residential streets.

Broad roofs tell of factories, school buildings, the community building, library and homes of fraternal orders. The schools appear well distributed.

Reilly stadium stands forth as do the ball diamonds at Centennial park and to the east is a trace of a race track, a reminder of other days.

That Salem is the center of an agricultural area is also evident in the contrasted patch-work of fields and woodlands surrounding the city. To the northeast appears a deep valley heavily wooded.

DEDICATION OF PLANT OBSERVED

Mullins Group entertained In New Building Friday Night

Approximately 2,500 employees, their wives and sweethearts attended the dedicatory entertainment, sponsored by the Mullins Manufacturing corporation, in the event of the opening of the new enameling plant of the corporation, Friday night.

It was one of the largest gatherings for an affair of its kind ever assembled in the city.

A program of entertainment was given, including speeches by C. C. Gibson, president of the corporation; R. F. White, E. S. Erickson, Clifford Reeves, and W. J. Kibby. Orrie Galbreath sang two solos, while Pat Bolen's dance band, with Pat Bolen directing and singing, played for group singing and the dance.

Refreshments were served by employees of the food department. Forty-one employees were honored, during the program, for long continued service with the corporation.

Valley Road Bids Sought; Claims Few

Bids for the grading and construction of drainage structures for the new Salem-Valley road in Butler township will be sought by the County Commissioners next week. A new line for this road has been surveyed which will give a direct diagonal road from Salem to Home-worth in Knox township and the Columbiana-Stark county line. Only a few damage claims have been filed in connection with this improvement, as farmers in that part of the county desire the new road. It is proposed to give the road a concrete top next spring.

TWO BUILDINGS FIRED; OFFICIAL SURVEYS CASE

Damage In Fires Near To $2,000 Mark; Fear More

FIRE MARSHAL IS SENT BY STATE

Malloy Discovers Cause After Investigation of Blazes

Activities of a pyromaniac who has been responsible for two fires in the city this week, were under a rapid investigation today, by Fire Chief Vincent L. Malloy, and members of the city police and fire department.

Assistant State Fire Marshal A. R. Altman, of Youngstown, was detailed by the state department to conduct investigations in the case, after Malloy submitted evidence that both fires, which occurred Wednesday and Thursday mornings were of incendiary origin.

Malloy and Altman visited the scene of both fires Friday morning, collecting evidence with the result that Altman substantiated the fire chief's suspicions, and issued a warning to the city safety department to maintain a careful watch on the entire city, in hopes of capturing the "fire bug."

Fear was expressed by Altman that another fire will occur in the city during the next 24 hours.

Damage estimated by Malloy at $400 was caused to the frame residence, owned by Mrs. Sadie Plater, located at 91 North Howard st. The fire had started on weatherboarding on the outside of the house, but made little headway, being checked by firemen after 45 minutes of battling with the use of chemicals.

The second fire occurred at an unoccupied house, owned by the Mullins Manufacturing corporation, situated at the corner of Mill and Newardens sts. Damage here was estimated at $1,500. Here the fire started on the west side of the house, on the outside, at almost an identical point as the first fire.

Firemen checked the blaze after a 45-minute battle, but were called back in about an hour, when fire had broken out on the opposite side of the building. Either the firebug had returned to the house and again ignited it, or sparks from the first blaze had ignited Altman stated.

Both homes were set on fire by use of gasoline, the fire marshal stated, the pyromaniac apparently driving up in an automobile, emptied a can of the liquid on the side of the house, then ignited it.

NEW AUTO LAW

While we have never been particularly impressed either by the automobile liability insurance laws enacted in some states or by their workings, we confess to something of a liking for that which has recently gone into effect in the state of Connecticut.

The automobile liability insurance enactment of the Nutmeg state is different from those in operation in some other states in which laws to the same end have been passed, in that liability insurance is not made compulsory and that it differentiates between drivers, dividing them into five classes. The first two classes embrace those who pay the regular rates charged by insurance companies and those who, by reason of their good records as drivers, are given a reduced rate. In addition to these two classes, there are three divisions made by the state—classes A, B and C. Class A is made up of drivers who figure in minor accidents and infractions of traffic laws and ordinances, who must pay for their insurance an advance of ten per cent over the regular rate. The rate for drivers who figure in serious accidents is increased twenty-five per cent, and such drivers are placed in class B. The drivers who are involved in serious and flagrantly avoidable accidents are placed in class C, and they must pay a fifty per cent increase on the rate.

The Connecticut law, as stated, does not make the taking out of insurance by a motorist compulsory, but the state holds the right to revoke the licenses of any and all who fail to meet judgments rendered against them, do not establish financial responsibility to meet judgments for damages or are held to be unsafe drivers. The plan is to maintain a careful check on all cars, and this is done through the insurance companies, which are compelled to file with the state lists of those insured and the rates charged.

The Connecticut law may be proved by experience to be as full of holes as a sieve, but it is our guess that it will deliver the goods in the event that it is enforced—a contingency on which the effective working of any law depends. If enforced, it should work to prevent accidents and, in the event of accidents, indemnify those who suffer either property damage or personal injury, or both. In any event, it avoids one defect in all unconditional compulsory insurance laws, that of making the competent and careful motorist pay for the damage done by the incompetent and reckless.

What Others Say

MOST FOLKS ARE HONEST

A year ago the rich National City bank of New York, which finances big business, gave Wall Street a sensation by opening up a department for loans, without collateral security, to working folks who needed a hundred dollars or a thousand dollars, and needed it badly.

After a year, however, during which the National City bank has loaned over $16,000,000 in such loans a report is made which shows that the loss has been negligible. The vast amount of borrowers met their obligations promptly. The experience of the bank helps support the general conviction that most folks are honest. Most men and women take pride in making their word as good as their bond.

This great bank has helped more than 50,000 New York families by its small-loan policy. It helped a man finance a surgical operation for his son. It provided a waitress with enough money to bring her brother to this country from Germany. It freed many wage earners from the toils of the loan sharks. A third of the loans were for medical and dental service; 15 per cent to pay debts and other loans; 14 per cent went for home equipment; and 8 per cent more for payments on homes; education took 5 per cent. The repayment plan, calling for regular savings accounts deposited from wages, was promptly followed by 97 per cent of the borrowers, and legal action had to be instituted for the recovery of less than 1 per cent of the total loans.—Omaha World-Herald.

The Stars Say —

For Sunday, August 11.

Sunday's microscope holds promise of peace, harmony, friendship and uplift of mind, soul and spirit. The day will be sacred to mystical, social and cultural pursuits and avocations which should transcend trivial anxieties.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of rather peculiar angles to business activities, centering largely on new projects; but the social, domestic and affectional interests may be uppermost, unless the business affiliations partake of this character. A child born on this day should be artistic, cultured, amiable and popular, leaning more to the fine and subtle in its practical activities.

For Monday, August 12.

Although this day's sidereal operations point to very lively and energetic activities, yet there is forecast of a hostile force which may manifest with much antagonism. There is a sign of astral malevolence, which may be circumvented by complete discretion and self-control. Employment and the purely personal relations are under this menace.

Those whose birthday it is have some prospects of gain and recognition for industry and application during the year, but there are also hostile conditions which may be best disposed by maintaining a calm and discreet attitude and persistent application to affairs in hand. Be careful not to imperil the employment or the personal relations. A child born on this day may find difficult situations and malevolent attacks to dispose of by wisdom and calmness.

DRINKING AT WAYSIDE SPRINGS DANGEROUS

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
(United States Senator from New York)

Vacations are joyful periods, but they may be dangerous. Watch the papers after Labor day and see what numbers of typhoid fever cases develop. The home water supplies are properly supervised, but wayside springs and streams may be teeming with the germs of disease. Vacations are carefree and carelessness of them will pick up typhoid.

DR. COPELAND

Years ago the well-to-do residents of districts where malaria abounded used to go to the seashore or the mountains at season when it prevailed. They did this to escape the "miasm," the poisoned air, which they believed was responsible for the disease.

When I was a boy they knew that the swamps and low lands were dangerous. But they didn't know the real reason. In my boyhood I heard a famous physician say that the "malarious air" cannot rise above 50 feet. He advised building homes on elevated spots so to escape malaria.

Now we know that it is the mosquito, a certain type of mosquito that conveys malaria. The ancients recognized that marsh lands bred the disease, but overlooked the fact that the mosquitoes which breed there are the real offenders.

A person who has the parasites of malaria in his blood, is bitten by a mosquito. The organisms are taken into the body of the mosquito. Certain changes take place, preparing the poison so it will thrive in the salivary glands of the insect. This process takes a couple of weeks.

The inoculated mosquito is now prepared to pass on to well human beings the organisms which have developed in the manner I have explained. This insect bites its unfortunate victim. A portion of the infected saliva is injected into the skin.

The organisms which are introduced into the body attack the red corpuscles of the blood. Here new organisms develop and poisons are generated. It is not long before the corpuscles are destroyed. Then the young parasites and the poisons get into the blood stream. A violent chill is the first sign of trouble.

The infected person is now ready to act as a carrier, to inoculate other mosquitoes. They pass it on to their human neighbors and pretty soon the disease is spreading.

Twenty Years Ago

(Issue of Aug. 10, 1909)

The 41st anniversary of Goodwill, incorporated No. 111, 1 O. O. F., was celebrated Tuesday evening at the hall, Broadway.

Following the sweltering heat of Sunday and Monday a very sudden and decided fall in the temperature occurred Tuesday afternoon, followed by a cool night that felt like a blanket.

Walter Sell, farmer, residing south of Salem, was severely burned and cut about the face and shoulders when his team ran away near the Tinsley farm, Lisbon rd., Wednesday morning.

Authorities Fail To Identify Corpse

Salineville, Aug. 10.—County authorities have been unable to identify the body of a man, aged about 70, who was found in a field near here Thursday.

The man is believed to have been a tramp. His throat was slashed, a razor lying near him, having apparently been used to end his own life.

SNOOK

of June 13, was to admit that he had "murdered" the girl. He had "killed" her, yes, but "murder"—well, he obviously didn't like the sound of the word.

Snook quibbled with Prosecutor John J. Chester Jr., over the word "murder." Under cross examination he was asked by the young prosecuting attorney:

"Don't you admit the murder?"

"No sir, I don't," retorted Snook, truculently.

Admits Killing Girl

After much hemming and hawing, he finally admitted "killing" the girl but he wouldn't say the word "murder," he put it this way:

"I admit I killed the girl because she threatened to kill my wife and baby and because she threatened me."

That seemed to sum up the whole issue as far as Snook himself was concerned, just prior to this admission he had stood before the jury, hammer in hand, and at the request of the prosecutor showed how he hit Miss Hix the "one real hard blow" that felled and silenced her.

Tenaciously, Snook clung to his contention that he dealt the girl only three or four blows, that everything went blank, that he does not know how her jugular vein happened to be severed, and that he drove away from the spot where the body lay without finding out whether she was dead or alive.

The defense today continued introducing evidence intended to show that Miss Hix's death may have been caused by one of the hammer blows instead of the cut that severed her jugular vein. The indictment against Snook accuses him of killing her with a knife and makes no mention of the hammer blows. This explains the bickering over the issue of just what wound caused the co-ed's death.

Parents Pathetic Sight

While the trial proceeded a pathetic scene was being enacted on the floor below, in the prosecutor's office. There, on a couch, sat Melvin T. Hix, elderly father of the slain girl, his head bowed in his hands.

He was weeping. Between sobs he recalled that today would have been his daughter's 25th birthday. Incidentally today is the 31st birthday of John J. Chester Jr., who is prosecuting Snook for the murder of Miss Hix.

"This is a terrible experience I am going through," said Prof. Hix. "This is the unhappiest day in my life. And it could have been a happy day for me, had my daughter been allowed to live."

"This thing has almost killed her mother. She was unable to come with me to the courthouse today. She is ill and hasn't been out of the house in three days."

Today there is no need to pay more than Exide prices and you can't get better quality.

TO RETURN MAN CLAIMING CRIME

Prisoner Who States He Murdered Ohio Couple To Face Charges

Eaton, O., Aug. 10.—Is he the right man?

While the people of this farming community were asking that today, County Prosecutor G. G. Jewel and Marshal William Armstrong were enroute to New York City where they will question Joseph Edelmann, 39, who told police there he was "involved" in the double murder of Dr. H. Z. Silver, 53, and his wife Lora, 58.

The Silvers were shot to death in their fashionable home here December 8, last, when burglars were surprised in the act of looting their residence.

Dr. Silver and his wife were shot and killed and a subsequent investigation and manhunt did not reveal any trace of the slayers.

Authorities here are inclined to be somewhat skeptical of Edelmann's story, but they are leaving no stone unturned in their efforts to bring the perpetrators of the atrocious deeds to justice.

Edelmann told New York police, according to word which was telegraphed here, that he beat the couple to death. The Silvers were shot and killed.

Insurance License Of Woman Revoked

Columbus, O., Aug. 10.—The insurance agent's license held by Miss Johanna Sandberg, stenographer for the Motorists Cooperative association, of Cleveland, was revoked today by Director C. S. Younger of the state insurance department.

Investigation allegedly showed that the Motorists Cooperative organization, which provides a road service for motorists, represented itself, through its agents, as including automobile insurance among the benefits of the policy.

Judge Younger held that the stenographer of the company being licensed as an insurance agent, was permitting the association's activities to be misunderstood.

NOT HIS RESPONSIBILITY

Editor, The News:

As clerk of the civil service commission, I desire to answer the insinuation made by G. L. Bricker in his article in The News last night that John Davidson, candidate for mayor and a member of the civil service commission, was responsible for the loss of certain commission records.

Mr. Davidson is not responsible for the safe-keeping of any commission records, that responsibility being mine as clerk. However, the records referred to—the minutes of meetings—were taken by the state inspector during his last inspection of the city's books and they have not yet been returned to me. All public records of the commission are permanently on file in the city auditor's office where they may be reviewed at any time.

This explanation is due to Mr. Davidson and the public. I believe in view of the misstatement made in Mr. Bricker's article.

Snook Successor To Be Named Soon

Put-In-Bay, Aug. 10.—A possibility that the successor of Dr. James H. Snook, deceased college professor, now on trial at Columbus for the murder of Miss Theora Hix, will be named here, was indicated today as Ohio State university trustees went into their final summer business session at the university's entomological laboratory on Gibraltar Island.

Jury Deliberates On Dog Racing

The trustees and Dr. George W. Rightmire, president of Ohio State arrived here late Thursday from Sandusky. They went into session immediately. One of the tasks facing the trustees was the selection of Dr. Snook's successor as an instructor in the College of Veterinary Medicine.

Unreached Decision Yesterday

Akron, O., Aug. 10.—Unable to reach a decision yesterday, the jury which heard the trial of Edward Ingels, track clerk at Northfield Dog Oval, on gambling charges, resumed its deliberations today.

Ingels was tried on charges of selling tickets representing interests in a game of chance. He was indicted by the Summit County grand jury on four counts.

The jury in making its decision must decide if the "donation system," under which the tickets were sold, was a scheme of chance.

Masons Deadlocked With Billiards For Baseball League Lead

Sudden Rise Of Masonic Lodge Given Setback

Pottery Holds Lodgemen To 2-2 Tie In City League Battle

DARKNESS FORCES HALTING OF TILT

Hurling Battle Between Sanders and Johnson is Unsettled

Salem Masons were unable to connect with the offerings of Hank Herb Johnson, Pottery pitcher, and today the city baseball league race once more is a deadlock between the lodgemen and the Colonial Billiards, leaders for the first five weeks of the campaign.

The Masonic outfit was held to a no-decision verdict by the Salem China combination, at Centennial park last night, and the Billiards, through the medium of their Thursday shutout victory over the Electric Furnace, once more are in the coveted position.

Bill Sanders, the once almost invincible Mason hurler, was touched for two consecutive bingles in the second inning, which, coupled with a wild throw by Mal Rush, in an attempt to nip off a base-runner, counted two runs. The Masons scored two on three hits in the fifth, darkness ending the contest at the end of the score with the score a 2 to 2 tie.

Rush Hits Triple
Johnson pitched his best game of the season, holding the Masons hitless the first three innings, only two men getting on base. Rush's triple in the fourth, a clean-cut blow over Alton's head in left field. It was wasted, however, as succeeding batters were out on pop flies.

Harry Vincent, Pottery catcher, smacked out a single in his team's half of the second, then went to second on Koenreich's wild heave to first. Frank Scullion knocked a vicious grounder to short, it taking a bound over Koenreich's head, bounced past Pete Sanders in center. It went for a double. Vincent scoring. Scullion also registered when Rush made his wild heave in an effort to cut him off.

Myers and Pete Scullion started things favorably for the Masons in the fifth with singles. Wright was out, Barber to Gettler, both runners advancing. Bill Sanders knocked a high sacrifice fly to left. Myers scoring. Scullion crossed the plate on Koenreich's single over second.

Sanders Fans Fight
Neither team got a man on base in the sixth. Sanders retiring the Potters on 14 pitched balls, via the whiff route. The Mason slasher had eight strikeouts in the game, Johnson counting five.

The contest's result was a distinct upset to league dopsters, the Masons having been figured early winners due to the Potters' sudden relapse into a spasm of bad baseball. The team played a classy brand of ball, and if anything, had the edge on the lodgemen in all but the main element of the fracas—runs scored.

Crucial Series Away from Home Starts; Cubs Wallop Phillies

New York N. Y., Aug. 10.—Now is the time for the Athletics and Cubs to come to the aid of quite a few experts.

For today the Macks begin a tour through the west while the Cubs settle down to a tour through the east—the same tours that those who profess to know, predicted would mean nothing short of ruin to the two leaders.

Philadelphia opens in Detroit, Chicago, following a one day stand in Philly, opens in Boston. Maybe the Macks are tired to death and ready to be bumped. Maybe the Bruins are ready to crack under the strain of such a fast pace as they have been setting of late, maybe.

Cubs Hit Hard
But McCarthey's outfit showed little signs of collapse yesterday as they waded through the Phillies to a 12 to 6 win. Their siege guns are still working. Hornsby and Stephenson getting home runs and driving in four runs each.

Freddie Fitzsimmons still has the Reds under control. The portly giant finger whipped them again, this time 7 to 1. He allowed only four hits.

Cards Jinxed
Stacking the Cards in the Pirates favorite outdoor amusement. Yesterday's 7 to 6 win was the twelfth successive triumph over the Cards scored by Pittsburgh.

In the only game scheduled in the American, St. Louis pounded Ted Lyons hard to down Chicago. The Yankees spent the day losing an exhibition affair to Albany, but the fans went home happy for Mr. Ruth slammed one of his specialties over the wall.

Philadelphia had better luck, easing out a 3 to 2 victory over Toledo, thanks to young Fox's homer.

MOVIES

Three super-productions arrive in the city for appearance at the state and Royal theatres next week. Here they are:

Jack Mulhall and Patsy Ruth Miller in "Twin Beds."
Dick Barthelmess in "Drag."
Lela Lane in "Speakeasy."

This trio takes all of the week's laurels, but then there comes that old favorite, "The Circus," with the inimitable Charlie Chaplin, for a re-run at the Royal. Thursday night, to also deserve prominent mention on the bill for the week.

"Drag" is 100 per cent talking and singing, and has Barthelmess in the role of a young, ambitious newspaperman, editor of a small country newspaper. He marries, and is forced to support an entire family of parasitic "in-laws," but it all ends well, and just as fans want it to.

This show "Speakeasy" might be every bit as good as "Drag" for it is hailed as a fast-moving panorama of New York night life, abundantly punctuated with thrilling climaxes and rib-rocking comedy twists. It takes one through the entire Gotham atmosphere—race tracks, Madison Square Garden—every place, and is easily one of the outstanding talk pictures of the year. "Twin Beds" brings Jack Mulhall to the fore in his greatest role, for in it he both sings and talks, and gets away with it. Not only that—he makes a hit, as does Patsy Ruth Miller, the diminutive little lass who has been selected as his leading lady for a string of pictures.

The week's program of pictures follows:

TONIGHT

State—Dolores Costello in "The Glad Rag Doll." Fables, News, all talking comedy, "The Old Barn."
Royal—"The Show Boat," News.

STATE

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday — "Drag," with Richard Barthelmess. Comedy, "Broadway Babies."

ROYAL

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday — Lela Lane in "Speakeasy."
Thursday—Charlie Chaplin in "The Circus."
Friday, Saturday—Hoot Gibson in "The Lariat Kid."

Platform of Geo. W. Allen
Candidate for Mayor of Salem, O.
Republican Ticket Nominee
August 13, 1929

Will say my platform is embodied and found in the teachings of the church and Holy Scriptures. No other platform I advocate. My stand on the following questions:

WATER QUESTION—Have rock filtered water coming out all around us. Cannot get better.

BOOZE QUESTION—No good reason for it. Out of date. It is "Proper." Drunkards should be treated like other invalids.

DISPOSAL PLANT—Best investment Salem has ever made. Could not get along without it. MORE POLICE—An insult to the present police force, and other peace teaching institutions. LESS POLICE is MY POLICY!

CARE OF THE STRANGERS AT OUR GATES—It has cost the City of Salem many valuable outside customers for this neglect.

HOME LABOR—No contracts for city improvements to be let only by having home laborers and home material preferred.

CONSIDERATION FOR AUTO OWNERS—As the owner of an automobile is taxed to the limit and on every hand, he should be broadly considered and not fined for every little misdeed near on our traffic laws.

CLAYING in my platform to be ruled by the Spirit of the teachings of the Holy Scriptures, will try and give Salem, O., the fruits of that Spirit, but like the rain clouds I cannot give out more than I take in, but will be responsible to Salem for all I take in, and thinking the above action on my part is showing the fruits of my Spirit, I want to deed to the City of Salem, the following property, 113 East High St., and as illustrated above, to be used as a House of Refuge for young girls, who have been deserted, and led astray, as I think there is a dire necessity for such a home in Salem, Ohio.

WANT TO CLEAN OUT CITY HALL and put it on a higher moral standard, which must be done by the Holy Spirit, the only genuine way, as such low morals as you find in some departments, where they play cards on the Sabbath Day, does bring a curse, not only to them engaged but to the entire city as "where the ungodly rule, the people suffer."

I WANT TO BE MAYOR ONLY! I expect the council to fill their respective positions as they were elected for that purpose.

I WANT THE PROTESTANTS to be as faithful and loyal as the Catholics are, and not have to complain that they cannot get a job on the city because they are not Catholics. For to the victors goes the spoils. I represent Protestantism.

CRIMINAL DOCKET and its conditions must be revealed to the citizens of Salem, O., so if you want to know where that $1,500 liquor fine, that $1,500 bond money, that $200 bootleg fine went to, you must vote for Geo. W. Allen, Aug. 13 for Mayor.

ALL CRIMINALS will receive mercy to the utmost. If that does not take the medicine will be changed.

NOT WANTING to take up too much time and space in telling what I want to do, but awaiting the time I get the position I am craving for and fulfilling by actions what I have promised. I do not want the citizens and voters of Salem, Ohio, to turn down by vote or their influence the chance of Salem, O., getting this valuable home for such a much needed cause.

"No vision, you perish. No ideal and you're lost. Your heart must ever cherish Some faith at any cost. Some hope, some dream to cling to."

Some rainbow in the sky. Some melody to sing to. Some service that is high.

"To live for those who love me For those who know me true For the heavens that smile above me."

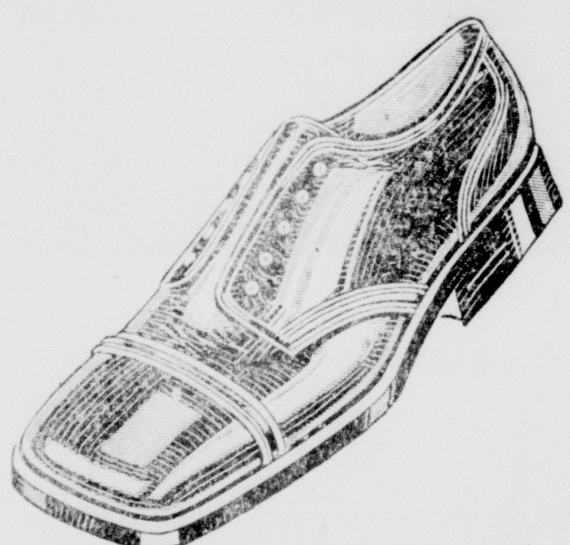

And awaits my coming too. For the cause that needs assistance. For the wrongs that needs resistance. And the good that I can do."

Geo. W. Allen, Candidate for Mayor
